By Tamera Deem

WVAD Secretary Tamera Deem, Trustee Laura Crowder, and Legislative Chair John Burdette participated in virtual NAD Region 1 State Association Day on May 1, 2021. The theme was “Making Connections, Creating Change.”

It was a 1-day collaboration with TedX-style presentations and workshops for Deaf, DeafBlind, hard of hearing people, and hearing allies/advocates who live in the Region 1 area (West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, and Maine). The meeting provided workshops and panels. Discussions was also held about the Deaf/DeafBlind/hard of hearing issues that the community faces in our states. The goal of the event was to collaborate, support, create, and empower between Region 1 state associations. The meeting was free for Region 1 attendees.

The meeting was very informational and inspiring. The morning presentation was “Creating Inclusive and Welcoming State Associations” by Stephanie “SJ” Hakulin, Massachusetts Association of the Deaf President, and Graham Forsey, DC Association of the Deaf President. The panel discussion was also presented: “State Association Leaders – Issues and Trends.” The moderator was Danielle Loughlin (Rhode Island Association of the Deaf President).

The afternoon presentation was “Social Media Tips for State Associations” by Justin Cha, NAD Affiliate Representative. Panel discussion (WVAD Participates... on page 6)
Hello and welcome to our summer newsletter!
I hope you have enjoyed the summer with your family and friends. Our family went camping at Pipestem Resort State Park for the 4th of July and had a wonderful time. It is a very beautiful state park!

WVAD is working on making location arrangements for our next conference scheduled for August 2023. We hope to make an announcement on this event very soon.

We are currently planning to have our Christmas party on December 4, 2021 (see flyer on page 20). The number of guests is limited to 200 people. We will keep you informed about the upcoming party on our Facebook page and www.wvad.org website.

Trustee Sylvia Mick and I went to Cedar Lakes, Ripley, WV, to give a presentation about WVAD to young deaf campers at “Me of My Dreams! Summer Camp” on July 16, 2021. We also had a question/answer session about WVAD. We really enjoyed meeting and chatting with the young kids. They talked about issues they face in real life. We were supportive of them and encouraged them to do their best in life. Our two other trustees, Laura Crowder and Scott Hottle, spent the week with the campers as staff members. It was good to see them there.

WV Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing (WVCDHH) reposted the Executive Director position on July 12, 2021, and are seeking new candidates to interview for the position.

Feel free to ask me or any of our board members any questions you may have or offer any ideas to make our organization better.

Just a quick reminder for those who have not paid for expired membership (see page 23 for membership form), please send the form and payment to our Membership Coordinator, Jimmy Harrison. WVAD accepts debit and credit cards for membership fees, etc. We are currently accepting Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Discover, and PayPal. You may also pay through Cash Square apps but you will need to contact Jimmy (contact info is on the membership form) to make payment arrangements. If you are not a member of WVAD, please join. If you have any questions about joining WVAD, please contact Jimmy Harrison. Your support and dues help keep WVAD going. This would also be a good way to give someone a membership as a gift.

In closing, please check out our WVAD website (www.wvad.org) or WV Association of the Deaf page on Facebook for any ongoing information about WVAD. I will continue to share the West Virginia Governor’s COVID-19 briefings on Facebook. This info is also on our www.wvad.org page.

Stay healthy and be safe,
Christopher T. Mick

Have a safe summer

• On May 14, 2021, President Mick received an e-mail from April Hottle, asking him about who was on the LEAD-K Committee, any updates about WV Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing (WVCDHH), and about deaf advocate. He responded back to her the next day that the LEAD-K team is still the same and that there were no updates about WVCDHH. He also told her that John Burdette is the Deaf Advocate.

Vice President Gloria Hollen’s Report:

• Chinese Raffle – Vice President Gloria Hollen contacted the WV quilt group and they stated that they would be happy to donate a few quilt items. They are really nice items. She will send photos with item name to Treasurer Veronda Harrison soon.

Secretary’s Report:
• Secretary Tami Deem, Trustee Laura Crowder, and Legislative Chair John Burdette attended NAD’s virtual Region 1 State Association Day on May 1, 2021. Secretary Tami Deem will write a story about it for the Summer 2021 newsletter (see page 1).

Trustee Laura Crowder’s Report:
• In May 2021 Trustee Laura Crowder met a new deaf senior citizen who just moved to the Cheat Lake area (near Morgantown, WV). She was notified by a church member about this deaf man and was told that he needed a connection with a deaf person as a friend. She met with him and created a friendship. During his living in Cheat Lake for few days, he faced hardship with finding interpreters for a lawyer, real estate realtor, etc. She referred him to a good lawyer for home issues and it all worked out. However, he needs interpreters for meetings with realtors and lawyers. She will do some research on legal aid that would help him find an interpreter and will contact WV Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR) for more information. She told this man a few weeks ago that she would bring this issue up to her WVAD board members. She said that she needs guidance on where, who, and how to get legal aid for this man.

- Trustee Laura Crowder set up a birthday fundraiser on Facebook to raise money for WVAD.

- Trustee Laura Crowder shared information received from her co-worker that Morgantown, WV will be hosting a Depression Bipolar Support Alliance (DBSA) Conference to be held on August 14, 2021. Time has not been announced yet but she will post DBSA flyer on Facebook when it comes out. Interpreter services will be provided. They will have two ASL interpreters at the conference. Please watch out for flyers for location, time, etc. It is strongly encouraged that deaf people come and learn how to fight depression. Goodies will be provided. I have been volunteering for DBSA organization to help other people.

- Trustee Laura Crowder is currently teaching sign language to four people (one adult from WV is interested in learning sign language to prepare for Sorenson and forensic linguistics) and three homeschooled teenagers from Maryland who want to learn about deaf culture and linguistics). It has been going really well and is very challenging.

- WV Deaf Service Center (DSC) will have a family camp weekend at Holly Gray Park near Sutton, WV, for some families with deaf/hard of hearing (D/HH) children on June 25-27, 2021. They will have outside activities for everyone.
- WV DSC will have a week (Sunday noon to Friday noon) deaf camp (Me of My Dreams! Summer Camp) for D/HH students, ages 14-21, on July 11-16, 2021, at Cedar Lakes near Ripley, WV. - Trustee Scott Hottle and April Hottle asked Sheri Farinha (CEO of NorCal Services for Deaf and Hard of Hearing and Principal Investigator, HRSA) to make a copy of ASL milestones for kids 0-5 years old for our WV LEAD-K. He would like to share with the board copies of ASL milestones from 0 to 5 years for D/HH children from California. Those copies were sent to Monica DellaMea (Director of Early and Elementary Learning, WV Department of Education) a couple weeks ago. Camp Can Do: Building Bridges to Success 2021 By Angela Williams, Teacher of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing, Raleigh County Schools

“Camp Can Do: Building Bridges to Success 2021” was a five-day long face-to-face camp experience for deaf/hard of hearing students ages 14-21 offered by Angela Williams, deaf/hard of hearing instructor with Raleigh County Schools and CRP provider with the West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation.

Camp Can Do took place at Adventures on the Gorge (https://adventuresonthegorge.com/) in Lansing, WV (Fayette County) from July 19-23, 2021. Fourteen (14) deaf/hard of hearing students had the opportunity to complete a variety of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) projects including building a birdhouse from reclaimed wood, dissecting owl pellets, honey bee investigation (students had four types of honey to sample and completed a 3D model of a honeybee), and bridge building.

During our bridge building lesson, students researched, designed, and built their bridges in teams for the ultimate challenge.

Transition instruction was provided to help students build bridges to successful employment. Fun and instructional activities included upper New River rafting and exploration, timber trek (obstacle course), swimming, zipline, bridge walk, and laser tag while teaching the fundamentals of instruction in self advocacy, work readiness, post-secondary education opportunities, and career exploration. Instruction was provided both in English and American Sign Language.

On Friday, July 23, 2021, students enjoyed watching “Tarzan” at Grandview Visitor Center at New River Gorge National Park put on by WV Public Theatre. The play was interpreted by Jim and Ressie Phillips.

Members of the deaf/hard of hearing community were invited to provide ASL instruction and share information on deaf culture. Keith Simmerman demonstrated the differences in English signing and ASL, and modeled a beautiful story using his ASL skills. The family of one of the students, Cate Kinder, spoke to our students about how deafness effects the entire family (Cate’s dad is also hard of hearing), and Paula Canada spoke on overcoming the challenges of her deafness in the workplace. Paula is a deaf educator in Raleigh County.

Camp Can Do 2021 was a huge success. Many thanks to individual contributors and WV Division of Rehabilitation for supporting the event. A special thank you to Russell Cole and Crystal Facemire for encouraging the students to participate.

NAD and ERC Invite State Agencies in Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia to Collaborate in Addressing Illegal Disability Discrimination

Washington, DC — May 13, 2021 — Today, the National Association of the Deaf (NAD) and the Equal Rights Center (ERC) alerted Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia state and county agencies about disability discrimination in the administration of public benefits that a recent investigation uncovered. The NAD and ERC invite these agencies to work quickly and collaboratively to ensure that no one is prevented from accessing critical public benefits, especially during the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. At the start of the pandemic, members of the disability community informed the NAD and the ERC that meaningful access to public benefits, particularly during the pandemic, is of paramount importance. As a result, the NAD and the ERC conducted a testing investigation of access to public benefits like the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) in the region.

The results of that investigation indicate that signing deaf and hard of hearing people have been denied meaningful and equal access to the assistance regional public benefits offices provide consumers in completing benefits applications because those state agencies have refused to provide any kind of interpretation assistance, including, but not limited to, qualified American Sign Language (ASL) interpreters, either in person or virtually. The investigation also uncovered inconsistent and illegal responses to callers who identify as deaf or who are calling on behalf of deaf relatives when they requested ASL interpretation. These failures violate Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, which require public entities to provide disabled consumers with meaningful access to, and equal opportunity to participate in, all agency programs, activities, and services.

NAD CEO Howard A. Rosenblum comments “We understand that state and county benefits agencies have faced many challenges in operating their programs over the last year. Yet, state agencies cannot ignore deaf and hard of hearing individuals, especially since they are among those most in need and marginalized, and that’s why we’re advocating for a collaborative solution.”

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that unemployment rates for persons with a disability were substantially higher than those for persons without a disability and, in 2020, 179 percent of persons with a disability were employed, down from 19.3 percent in 2019 (Persons with a Disability: Labor Force Characteristics News Release (www.bls.gov). Last visited April 20, 2021). As members of the disability community, these numbers reflect the harsh reality for signing deaf persons and hard of hearing people, who face higher rates of unemployment than their non-disabled peers and who deserve and need equal access to public benefits.

The investigation was based on civil rights testing, an investigative tool used to gather evidence, usually in order to compare conduct to legal requirements or a policy. It usually involves one or more people covertly engaging in a transaction or interaction. In some tests, callers received a flat “no” in response to questions about whether agency representatives could arrange ASL interpretation for a deaf applicant trying to complete a benefits application. In contrast, agents told testers they could help a hearing applicant complete their application over the phone. Some agents told testers that they needed to arrange interpretation services themselves and hung up on testers who attempted to clarify the process for doing so. Another tester was told “Ma'am we don't do that” in response to a request for interpretation assistance on an application. A state employee explicitly told a hearing tester calling about a deaf sibling who needed interpretation, “Now, if he's deaf, he's not going to be able to do it over the phone.” Testers were also repeatedly told that they would need to find a hearing person to assist them with the application, as agency offices were closed to the public due to the pandemic.

These examples represent egregious violations of federal law. The ADA and Section 504 require public entities to provide disabled consumers with meaningful access to, and equal opportunity to participate in, all agency programs, activities, and services. According to federal regulations, the obligation to “furnish appropriate auxiliary aids and services where necessary to ensure that readiness includes being able to serve our community.”

Rosenblum adds “Def and hard of hearing individuals need access to state services and are often neglected during disasters and health crises. State agencies must be prepared for such events and we offer our assistance to ensure that readiness includes being able to serve our community.”

Anyone who is deaf or hard of hearing who has experienced discrimination in applying for public benefits is encouraged to report their experiences here.

Advocacy letters were sent to the Maryland Department of Human Services, Virginia Department of Social Services, and West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources, along with various county agencies in the three states.

The NAD and the ERC are represented in this matter by the Washington Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights and Urban Affairs and Handley Farah & Anderson.

A canopied area of Cedar Lakes was a hub of activity this week. Nineteen (19) teenagers from across West Virginia were busy constructing five chicken coops.

It’s not unusual to find industrious young people at the conference center. What sets this group apart is their inability to hear at various levels.

The week-long camp is organized by the West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services.

Spokesperson April Hottle of the WV Deaf Services Center explains it’s all about helping the campers, age 14-21, prepare for independent living.

“The goal is to help them get ready for a career,” she said. “These experiences will have an impact on their lives. We want to show them that they can get and keep a good job if they’re willing. If they are willing, they can have a comfortable, good life.”

Her husband, Scott Hottle, is among more than a dozen role models at the camp. Communicating through sign language, he explained the construction project’s biggest challenge was not necessarily the lack of hearing.

“It was building five of them,” he signed with a smile. “There is a lot of different parts that went into this project from putting them together to painting them.”

The coops will have various destinations upon completion such as the Jackson County Junior Fair, the WVU Community Education Outreach Service (CEOS) at Gay, and the Jackson County Community Foundation.

Camp trips included a visit to the Post Office in Charleston, WV. Several deaf workers are employed there, including one who is approaching retirement. Other presentations were made by the local Walmart manager and Jamie Hart, a law enforcement officer in Ripley, WV.

Participants are taking home with them their own battery-operated power drill and MacBook, donated by the Jackson County School System.

Campers were finding the computers helpful in preparing for their “Shark Tank” entrepreneurship competition. Designed after a popular TV show, they were divided into teams and challenged to create products that could make an impact on their lives.

One team is devising a hearing aid that utilizes a magnet so as not to interfere with the wearing of eyeglasses.

The camp is not all work, though. They will be making a day-long trip to the King’s Island amusement park in addition to swimming and games offered at Cedar Lakes.

Actress Marlee Matlin offers an excellent thought on the point instilled by the camp. “The handicap of deafness is not in the ear; it’s in the mind.”

Report Finds Multiple Areas of Noncompliance at West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind

CHARLESTON, WV (WOWK)—A report was released by the West Virginia Department of Education (WVDE) called the “Special Circumstance Review Report of the West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind (WVSDB).” A review conducted in April by the WVDE Office of Support and Accountability found issues of noncompliance in many key focus areas.

Throughout the 2020 school year, a change in administration caused the WVDE to provide support to the faculty at the WVSDB, which currently houses 93 students and 24 teachers. Further supports were needed in personnel, transportation, finance, special education, and the Comprehensive Educational Facilities Plan (CEFP), which were all reasons for the Special Circumstance Review.

A team of 21 staff members conducted this review through 49 classroom observations, 29 instructional staff interviews, multiple classroom visits, a tour of facilities and a thorough examination of student files and financial records between April 27–29, 2021.

The investigation uncovered multiple areas of non-compliance in the focus areas of:
1. Student Care
2. Instruction
3. Special Education
4. Facilities
5. Transportation
6. Financial Indicators and Purchasing Compliance
7. Personnel
8. Leadership

Students’ social-emotional support needs were not being adequately met, and improvements needed to be made to professional development and leadership infrastructure at the school. Improvements also need to be made in documentation, family communication, and the utilization and maintenance of facilities.

The WVSDB will create an action plan based on the recommendations from the report in order to address the shortcomings and needs of the school. Part of this plan will include consolidating two schools, which will increase opportunities for them to interact with peers and have better access to services. Parents and community members will be met with more communication and engagement, and short courses providing intensive training will be made available across all of West Virginia’s 55 counties.

“We will always focus on what is best for the children of our state, especially those in vulnerable circumstances,” said West Virginia Board of Education President Miller Hall. “The Board is committed to the process of restoring the vision and mission of the school so that it can best serve this important role. It is going to take some time; however, it is essential that we understand the magnitude of the issues in order to begin implementing the necessary measures.”

“My staff and I are dedicated to supporting the WVSDB in addressing the deficiencies outlined in the report,” said State Superintendent of Schools W. Clayton Burch. “We will begin with immediate concerns in the process of transforming the school to become a center for excellence in the education of West Virginia students who are deaf/hard of hearing or blind/low vision. This is the start of an intensive and deliberative process for the school that serves an important role in our state.”

Technical assistance will be provided by the Instructional Resource Center housed at the school.

The Special Circumstance Review was conducted as outlined in WV Code §18-2E-5 WVBE Policy 2322 which establishes 11 efficiency indicators necessary to provide an effective school system. The West Virginia Board of Education has received the report and instructed the State Superintendent to prepare the public report on the findings and establish an intervention team to lead efforts to implement the action plan to address areas of non-compliance.

Intervention Team Spending Time at Schools for the Deaf and Blind

CHARLESTON, W.Va. — State School Superintendent Clayton Burch told members of the state Board of Education this week he plans to continue to spend a lot of time in the months ahead at the West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind (WVSDB) in Romney, WV.

The board adopted the department’s Special Circumstance Review Report concerning the school at Wednesday’s state school board meeting.

The report, first released last month, cites eight areas of non-compliance at WVSDB, including student care, instruction, facilities, and leadership.

Burch and a team from the Department of Education’s Office of Support and Accountability were back in Romney Thursday, meeting with faculty. Burch said he wanted to hear from teachers about what’s needed at the school.

“I want to sit down, go through the report, and really hear from them on what we need to do,” Burch said.

The team was also meeting with the faculty senate chair about scheduling professional development sessions with the school’s teachers.

Other meetings Thursday and Friday were expected to focus on scheduling, admissions, and facilities.

Burch told state School Board members he anticipates changing the leadership structure at the school.

“There are 90 students, we don’t need a superintendent,” Burch said.

He indicated a new structure may include a schoolmaster instead.

Burch told the board the issues at the Schools for the Deaf and Blind won’t be solved overnight.

“This is going to be hard, there’s just no doubt about it,” Burch said. “It’s going to be a year of really, really tough decisions. The goal is we do a review again and it’s better or we go in a different direction.”

Burch said local community leaders have had a positive response to the state’s intervention.

“We have yet to receive any negative response from them. In fact, the entire dialogue with them has been ‘Can you put it back on track?’”

Burch said during an appearance last month on MetroNews “Talkline” he’d have to give the WVSDB a failing grade as it currently stands.

“It’s something that we cannot ignore. We cannot take any amount of time (delay).” Burch said. “There’s no waiting on this one. We need to be prepared in August when they (students) come back that we have begun the transformation of the school, modernizing it, and really expecting more.”

STUFFED RED PEPPERS
Prep Time: 20 minutes; Cook Time: 20 minutes; Serves 4-6

4 red bell peppers
1½ cups white cheddar cheese
Lime wedges, for serving

Extra-virgin olive oil, for drizzling
Avocado slices or guacamole, for serving
Sea salt and freshly grounded black pepper

Filling:
1 Tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil
2 jalapeños, diced, more for topping, if desired
1½ Tablespoons lime juice
1 teaspoon coriander
1 teaspoon cumin
1 teaspoon cayenne
1½ cups cooked white jasmine rice
1½ cups corn kernels

2 garlic cloves, grated
2 scallions, chopped
1 teaspoon lime zest
1 teaspoon cumin
1 teaspoon cayenne
½ cup finely chopped cilantro
1½ cups cooked black beans, drained and rinsed

Directions:
1. Preheat the oven to 450 °F and line a baking sheet with parchment paper. Slice the peppers in half lengthwise, remove the seeds and membranes, and place on the baking sheet, cut side up. Drizzle with olive oil, salt, and pepper and bake 10 minutes. Tip out and discard any liquid that pools inside the peppers. Set the peppers aside.
2. Make the filling. In a large bowl, mix together the olive oil, garlic, jalapeños, scallions, lime zest, lime juice, cumin, coriander, cayenne, salt, and cilantro. Fold in the rice, black beans, and corn.
3. Scoop the filling into the pepper halves and top them with the cheese. Broil for 2 to 5 minutes or until the cheese is bubbling and browned. Alternatively, continue baking at 450 °F for 10 to 15 minutes until the cheese is melted. Serve with the avocado slices, lime wedges, and extra jalapenos, if desired.

NOTE: Vegan version – skip the cheese. Don’t bake the peppers the second time and serve them with guacamole or chipotle sauce.

STUFFED ZUCCHINI BOATS
Prep Time: 10 minutes; Cook Time: 18 minutes; Serves 4-6
(https://www.loveandlemons.com/stuffed-zucchini-boats/)

2 large or 3 medium zucchini, halved lengthwise
¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ cup quartered cherry tomatoes
2 Tablespoons fresh thyme leaves
Extra-virgin olive oil, for drizzling
Sea salt

1 large egg, beaten
1 cup torn crusty bread, crumbled
½ garlic clove, minced
2 teaspoons lemon zest
¼ cup pine nuts
Pesto, for serving
Freshly ground black pepper

Directions:
1. Preheat the oven to 475 °F and line a baking sheet with parchment paper.
2. Use a small spoon to hollow out the flesh of the zucchini, leaving a little more than ¼-inch thickness around the edges. Place them cut side-up on the baking sheet.
3. Make the filling. Place the scooped-out zucchini flesh into a mesh strainer and gently press out any excess water. You should be left with 1 cup flesh. Chop any coarse pieces and transfer to a medium bowl with the egg, bread crumbs, cheese, garlic, tomatoes, lemon zest, thyme, pine nuts, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Mix until combined, using your hands if necessary.
4. Drizzle the hollowed-out zucchini with olive oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spoon in the filling and bake for 16 to 18 minutes or until the filling is set and is golden brown and crisp on top.
5. Serve with pesto.
